

Alejandro Ferrari has been the General Coordinator of Uruguay XXI's Global Services Program financed by the IDB, since March 2012.

He holds a Master in Business Administration Degree (MBA) from the Catholic University of Uruguay and a Degree in Agronomy from the University of the Republic.

He specializes in management, design and evaluation of development programs and improvement of competitiveness, focusing on attracting foreign direct investment and clusters and infrastructure projects, for governments, private institutions and international organizations.

He has over 25 years of national and international experience as a strategic consultant and director of ventures related to Agro-Chains, Industry, Trade and Tourism.

Previously in his current position in Uruguay XXI, he served as coordinator of the Program of Competitiveness of Conglomerates and Productive Chains (PACC) and of the Solid Waste Management Plan of the Metropolitan Area of Montevideo from the Office of Planning and Budget (OPP).

Additionally, he has more than 12 years of experience as a professor in Finance and Agribusiness postgraduate courses.

In Uruguay XXI, he coordinates a team that designs and executes strategies for the attraction of investments and internationalization in Global Services (Corporate Services, Information Technologies, Life Sciences, Architecture & Engineering) as well as transversal After Care actions for other economic sectors.